Walls go up

By Millie Thomas

A spokesperson from the Police complex construction project said that the project is all going to schedule.

Last week, the walls were put up, with the anticipated finish date of that sector of the project being last Friday, May 14.

“The steel erectors will be back on site on Tuesday, there will be ten days of work for the contractors and then the structural steel will be up,” said the spokesperson.

Local contractor MPS are providing the underground services and AGL are putting in the pre cast.

Alex Candetti, Executive Chairman of Candetti Constructions said “The project is on time and on budget and is due for completion later this year and wherever possible local trades people are being used on the project. The erection of structural steel & precast panels should be complete next week.”
