Australia's Royal Flying Doctor Service (RFDS) turned 82 on May 15, and Candetti Construction celebrated in style at its "Wings for Life" Gala Ball and annual fundraiser at the Adelaide Entertainment Centre.

"May 15 was 82 years to the day when the Reverend John Flynn established the Flying Doctor scheme for the people of the outback – so when we went to our loyal supporters with (the idea of) a bigger and better birthday party, they jumped at it," says Charlie Paterson, General Manager of Marketing and Public Relations for RFDS Central Operations.

All proceeds from the event benefited the RFDS capital-raising program to buy replacement aircraft and medical equipment.
